Institutional History

Founded by Presbyterians, in Auburn New York State, in 1818, Auburn Theological Seminary first prepared clergy for the American frontier and foreign missions. Faculty participated in the great social movements of the time: the struggles against slavery and for women's suffrage, temperance, and reforms that uplifted the poor. Auburn was one of the first theological schools in the country to educate women and to enroll students from Asia, and it was among the first to establish a summer session and a school of religious education.

By the beginning of the 20th century, Auburn had become a prominent seminary and a center of theological inquiry. In the battles over the authority of the Bible, Auburn's name became attached to a famous defense of freedom. The Auburn Affirmation opposed efforts of fundamentalists to impose a single interpretation of scripture on others.

In 1939 the Great Depression forced the seminary to move from Auburn, New York, to the campus of Union Theological Seminary on Manhattan's upper west side in 1939. The two seminaries have never merged but enjoy a remarkable friendship. Union offers degree programs; Auburn focuses on lifelong learning for clergy and laity, and on research addressing the needs of religious communities and the academy.

Under the leadership of Auburn's President Rev. Dr. Katherine Rhodes Henderson, Auburn moved from UTS and is based in the nearby Interchurch Center, 475 Riverside Drive, New York.

Auburn equips bold and resilient leaders who can bridge religious divides, build community, pursue justice, and heal the world.

Auburn exists in covenant with the Presbyterian Church (USA) and will celebrate the 200th anniversary of its foundation in 2018.

Collection Scope and Content Note

The Papers of Auburn Seminary consist of records of the institution, including historical documents dating from its founding, institutional publications such as catalogues, and detailed alumni records as well as personal papers, scrapbooks, some photographs and sermons from faculty and alumni. The move from Auburn to New York City is well documented.

The materials in this collection currently span the dates of 1821 through 2001, although the bulk of the material is from 1850 - 1978.

The majority of the collection consists of manuscript notebooks, correspondence, sermons and personal papers with miscellaneous deeds, photographs and other documents

- Series 3: Museum Items, 1 box + 1 OS box, 3.25 linear ft
Items formerly labeled as Auburn Museum are located in this series.

Processing

In processing the Auburn records and papers to the Burke Library, an attempt was made to maintain the original order imposed initially to the historic records.

Former classification system notation is cited in brackets: AE60/Au1: Lib-Ab thru P1821

Folded materials were flattened. Staples, rubber bands, and metal clips were removed and replaced with plastic clips. Acidic papers were interleaved with acid free paper or housed in Mylar folders. All materials were placed in acid-free folders and boxes. Material marked FRAGILE may be available to be consulted by the researcher with care.
