Biography

Rosemary Radford was born in St. Paul, Minnesota in 1936. Her father died when she was twelve years old and her mother then moved the family to California. Rosemary graduated La Jolla High School as the commencement speaker. She studied the Classics at Scripps College in Claremont, and graduated in 1958 with a Bachelor's degree. She received her Master's degree in Historical Theology at Claremont Graduate School in 1960, and her Doctorate in Patristics in 1965, also from Claremont Graduate School, while at the same time having married Herman J. Ruether in 1957 and raising three children.

Ruether taught at Howard University in Washington DC from 1965 to 1975, continuing her commitment to civil rights, which began in Mississippi as a Delta Ministry Volunteer in 1965. She taught her first feminist theology classes when she was a visiting professor at Harvard Divinity School in 1972. Various schools invited Ruether as visiting professor, among them Princeton Theological Seminary, Yale University Divinity School, Sir George Williams University in Montreal, and Claremont School of Theology in California.

From 1976 to 2002, Ruether taught at Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary as the Georgia Harkness Professor of Applied Theology. Ruether's theological work evolved through teaching, writing, traveling and speaking in those years. Several of Ruether's published works have become seminal texts: Sexism and God-Talk (1983) as a systematic approach to feminist theology; Liberation Theology (1976) has been translated into several languages; The Wrath of Jonah: The Crisis of Religious Nationalism in the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict (1989) explores Holocaust theology and its rationale for power in the hands of the formerly powerless.

Before retiring in 2005, Rosemary Radford Ruether taught at Graduate Theological Union. Ruether has published thirty-six books and over 600 articles. She is the recipient of nine honorary doctorates and numerous awards. Of her long career in theological exploration, Ruether wrote, "I have been privileged to have strayed into this path and found myself led by whatever combination of instinct and divine grace causes one to explore mile after mile of a particular path of thought and life... It is as much a direction into which I have been led as it is one that I have consciously chosen. Like so many other travelers on this path, we can only say to each other, 'here we must go; we cannot do otherwise.'"

Processing

When the Burke Library acquired Rosemary Radford Ruether's papers, an attempt was made to maintain the original order she imposed throughout the course of her career.

Folded materials were flattened. Newspaper clippings were interleaved with acid free paper. Staples, rubber bands, and metal clips were removed and replaced with plastic clips. All materials were placed in acid-free folders and boxes.
