Biography

Abbe Livingston Warnshuis was born in 1877 in Clymer, New York. His grandfather had emigrated from Holland. He pursued studies for an A.B. (1907), A.M. (1900), at Hope College, Michigan and in 1916 was awarded a D.D. by the same college. In 1900 he also graduated from New Brunswick Seminary, New Jersey and was ordained in the Reformed Church of America. Warnshuis married Anna De Vries in 1900. After the passing of Anna De Vries in 1941, Warnshuis remarried to Margaret Chambers Halsey in 1942.

He arrived in Amoy in the year of the Boxer Rebellion (1900) and served there as a missionary until 1915. From 1915 – 1920 Warnshuis served as the National Evangelistic Secretary of the China Continuation Committee in Shanghai. Warnshuis was deeply involved in educational and missionary activities in Fujian Province. Warnshuis also played a role in the establishment of the Church of Christ in China.

He played leadership roles in a number of international organizations and educational institutions. In 1920 Warnshuis became the first American secretary of the International Missionary Council, where he served until 1943. He was integral to the organizing of IMC meetings in Jerusalem (1928) and Tambaram, India (1938).

Warnshuis played a key role in organizing the wartime Orphaned Missions’ service of the IMC. In 1944 Warnshuis was tapped by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to report on the condition of churches in Europe. After his return, Warnshuis played an active role in relief efforts as Executive Vice President of the Church World Service from 1946 – 1948.

It should be noted that A.L. Warnshuis is frequently cited as using the name Warnhuis. This collection shows no conclusive evidence for use of that form of the name.

Warnshuis' published works include Heidelberg Catechism in Chinese (1907), Lessons in Amoy Vernacular (coauthor, 1911), The Church's Battle for Europe's Soul (1945), Church Growth and Group Conversion (coauthor, 1956) and many other books and articles.
