

GUIDE TO THE LIBRARIES 2013-14

WELCOME

Columbia University Libraries/Information Services is a system of 22 libraries, including affiliates, offering extensive print and electronic resources, discipline-based digital centers, and a team of expert staff providing innovative services to support instruction and scholarship. Over 12 million volumes are available at the Libraries and online, as well as extensive electronic resources, manuscripts, rare books, microforms, maps, and more. The website of the Libraries, library.columbia.edu, connects you to our search and discovery system, services and resources, digital collections, research assistance, and more.

Welcome to the Libraries!

JAMES G. NEAL

Vice President for Information Services & University Librarian

LIBRARY INFORMATION OFFICE (LIO)

Located at the entrance of Butler Library, the Library Information Office answers general questions about all of the Libraries' services and resources. Visit LIO to pay fines and clear blocks on your library account or inquire about visitor passes and printing dollars for visitors and alumni.

OFFICE OF DISABILITY SERVICES (ODS)

Columbia University is committed to ensuring that the services and programs offered by the Libraries are accessible to all patrons. The University will work with patrons on an individual basis to assess their accommodation needs. For more information, please visit the ODS online at library.columbia.edu/services/lío/disability.html.

ALUMNI SERVICES

With an alumni card, all Columbia University graduates can access the Columbia University Libraries. Borrowing privileges are available for a fee. You can obtain an alumni card at the Library Information Office. Off-campus access to select, online databases are available as a courtesy to all alumni. For more information, please visit alumni-friends.library.columbia.edu.

RESEARCH SUPPORT

Our first priority is helping you utilize our rich collection and tools. You can reach our knowledgeable staff members for assistance in a variety of ways:

Visit – Librarians are available for in-person reference and research help at libraries across campus. For more information, please visit library.columbia.edu/ask

Call – Call us at 212-854-7309 for general library information.

IM – IM us at askuscolumbia via AOL, Google, MSN, or Yahoo!, or use the chat box located at library.columbia.edu/services/askalibrarian.html. Hours may vary throughout the year.

E-Mail – Use e-mail to ask a reference question or request research assistance.

Text – Text us questions from your mobile phone at (215) TEXT-CUL or (215) 839-8285. Hours may vary throughout the year.

RESEARCH TOOLS

Our search and discovery system, CLIO clio.columbia.edu, allows you to search broadly across multiple sources of reference material, including:

- Catalog items
- E-resources
- Articles
- Website content
- Archives
- Academic Commons
- ...and much more

Here, you can also request items that are currently on loan or offsite or access your account to save searches, renew, or recall items.

For tips on getting the most out of CLIO, visit library.columbia.edu/tips.

STAY CONNECTED

Stay in the loop with the latest news, events, workshops, services, resources and more by connecting with the Libraries on Facebook, Twitter and out blogs:

/culibraries

@ColumbiaLib

WHAT'S YOUR SPECIALTY?

Many of Columbia University's librarians are subject specialists in a wide variety of fields, including:

African Studies	French & Italian	Music
Anthropology	Literature	Philosophy
Arabic Literature	Geosciences	Psychology Political
Architecture	GIS	Science
Art History	Human Rights	Real Estate
Biology	Japanese Studies	Religion
Business	Journalism	Slavic Studies
Chemistry	Korean Studies	Social Work
Chinese Studies	Law	Tibetan Studies
Economics	Middle Eastern Studies	Urban Planning
		... and many more!

MEET WITH A SUBJECT SPECIALIST

library.columbia.edu/about/policies/collection-development/liaisons

Students, researchers, and faculty are encouraged to schedule individual research consultations with subject specialist librarians. Librarians are happy to share their expertise in available library resources or database search strategies in your research field.

USE SUBJECT GUIDES

library.columbia.edu/subject-guides

Subject specialists also compile guides of recommended, authoritative resources in specific fields. These guides cover a wide range of topics and can be bookmarked for easy accessibility.

ATTEND WORKSHOPS

The Libraries offer regular workshops during Spring and Fall semester for research and database management and software and technology support. Visit library.columbia.edu/research/workshops for more information.

DIGITAL CENTERS

DIGITAL HUMANITIES CENTER (DHC)

Butler Library, Room 305
library.columbia.edu/dhc.html

The DHC provides in-depth support to researchers in the humanities working with digital texts, bibliographic citations, and still and moving images. Services at the DHC include:

- Consultations on digital projects
- Workshops on methods and software
- 14 high-end text image scanners
- 21 Windows and eight Mac workstations
- On-site collections of digitized primary sources
- Text and qualitative analysis
- Digital video editing facilities
- A new Studio@Butler collaboratory (208 Butler) for scheduled bring-your-own-tools group work
- The affiliated Digital Music Lab offers equipment and software to create and edit digital audio and music notation

DIGITAL SCIENCE CENTER (DSC)

Science & Engineering Library
library.columbia.edu/locations/dsc

The DSC is equipped with software and equipment selected to support science and engineering teaching and research. In-person consultations and instruction sessions are available to assist in the use of the electronic resources.

- 43 Dell workstations
- 10 Mac workstations
- Eight scanners
- Over 50 specialized software applications
- Two group study/ instruction rooms
- 12 booths with monitor and laptop connections

DIGITAL SOCIAL SCIENCES CENTER (DSSC)

323 Lehman Library, SIPA Building
<http://library.columbia.edu/locations/dssc>

The DSSC librarians and staff assist users with information resources in the social sciences, including U.S. government documents and numeric and spatial data resources. Other highlights of the DSSC include:

- 22 collaborative workstations
- Five flatbed scanners
- Two high-speed printers
- One color printer
- Presentation practice room
- Conference Calling Room
- Group study tables with monitors and laptop connections
- 44 additional computer workstations are available in the CUIT Lab adjacent to the DSSC
- A data services center with 13 workstations for specialized assistance with formatting and manipulating spatial and numeric data.

SOFTWARE BY LOCATION

While the Libraries' digital centers offer a wealth of research tools, below are a few of the most popular software systems by location.

EXPLORE DISTINCTIVE & SPECIAL COLLECTIONS

The distinctive and special collections at Columbia encompass a broad range of treasures, including music scores, rare books, archives, manuscript collections, works of art, prints, photographs, films, architectural drawings, scientific instruments, and realia.

There are many tools to help you find and locate special collections in the Libraries:

The Archival Collections Portal provides access to descriptions and finding aids for more than 3,500 archival collections in six Columbia University Libraries repositories.

clio.columbia.edu/archives

The Oral History Interviews Portal searches more than 6,000 records of Columbia Center for Oral History interviews.

oralhistoryportal.cul.columbia

Archivists, librarians, and curators are on staff and able to assist in navigating and locating items within the archives.

Digital Collections and Online Exhibitions are available for your use. Browse the papers and correspondence of John Jay, listen to audio recordings of notable New Yorkers, explore original manuscripts related to the creation, composition, and editing of William S. Burroughs's novel Naked Lunch. An expanse of unique subject-matter is all accessible online.

REQUESTING RESOURCES

While the Libraries house millions of volumes of books and journals on campus, there are times when materials may need to be requested from offsite shelving or partner libraries. There are a variety of ways to access other materials.

BORROW DIRECT

library.columbia.edu/find/request/borrow-direct

Borrow Direct enables you to search and request books from the circulating collections at Brown, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, MIT, Princeton, University of Chicago, University of Pennsylvania, Yale, and the Center for Research Libraries (CRL). Items generally arrive within four business days.

INTERLIBRARY LOAN (ILL)

ILL provides access to materials that are currently unavailable through Columbia University Libraries. Compared to Borrow Direct, ILL offers non-book loans, international requests, and a wider range of borrowing institutions but can often take longer to process. Articles generally arrive in a few days, other items within two-to-three weeks, or sooner depending on availability.

Scan and Deliver is a service within ILL that allows for scans of articles and book chapters from participating Columbia University Libraries to be delivered. Requests for materials can be made through your ILL account and are delivered within two-to-three business days.

RECALL

Should any circulating item be checked out by another patron, you have the option to place a recall request in CLIO. That patron will then have two weeks to return the item, and you will be notified to pick it up at whichever campus library you choose.

RECAP

ReCAP is Columbia University Libraries' off-campus storage facility, operated jointly with Princeton University and New York Public Library. Materials housed here can be requested in CLIO and delivered within two business days.

PRINTING, COPYING, & SCANNING

PRINTING

Printers are located in every library on campus and available for use with your printing quota. Printing dollars are also available for purchase online or at 202 Philosophy Hall.

Color printing is available for a fee where available.

PHOTOCOPYING

Photocopiers are located in every library and available for use with the Flex Account on your Columbia ID. Don't have a Columbia ID? Flex Cards are available for purchase at select libraries.

SCANNING

Scanners are available in many of the libraries and digital centers.

COMPUTER LABS

cuit.columbia.edu

Columbia University Information Technology (CUIT) maintain many computer labs on campus. A mix of Mac and Windows computers and software is offered.

For more detailed information on printing, photocopying, and scanning, please visit library.columbia.edu/technology/printing-photocopying.
